photography award

The project

Venice Movie Stars Photography Award is the first photography contest dedicated to images taken at the Venice International Film Festival.

The award curated by Immagicgroup was created with the aim of enhancing the work of professional photographers who tell the world, through their pictures, emotions and important moments of the Festival.

In 2010 the Award received the patronage of the Ministry of Heritage and Culture.

Born in 2003 as a photographic exhibition, Venice Movie Stars has become, over ten editions, a coveted award in the photography world, gaining acclaim and attention from press and opinion leaders.

The Award

The Venice Movie Stars Photography Award will be awarded in three categories:

Official Section:

- Best Portrait
- Best Reportage

Collateral Section:

- Public's choice

The jury

The official evaluation of sections is done by members of the Official Jury of the Prize, including journalists, photographers and actors.

In the past editions many important personalities have been members of the Jury such as Gabriele Salvatores, John Landis, Marco Müller, Douglas Kirkland, Stefano Accorsi, Dante Ferretti, Ferzan Ozpetek, Maria Grazia Cucinotta, Raoul Bova, Julian Schnabel, Maurizio Galimberti and Domenico Procacci.

The Public's choice, in collaboration with Repubblica.it, is assigned to the most voted image by the LaRepubblica web page readers. During the past nine edition of the award more than 25.000 people have expressed their preference, determining the winning photo of this category.

At Villa Borghese Casa del Cinema in Rome

The awards ceremony, attended by numerous journalists and actors, is held since 2006 in December at the Casa del Cinema in Villa Borghese in Rome. During the event, actors and film industry professionals reward the winning photographers.

The Venice Movie Stars Photography Award exhibition collects the most significant images of the prize and is staged each year at the Casa del Cinema until the end of February.

The Venice Movie Stars catalogue presentation is held during a cocktail.

The book

All images participating in the photo contest are collected in a prestigious book printed in limited edition. The Venice Movie Stars Photography Award book is reserved exclusively for the partners of the initiative, which may require customized copies.
